

Groovy Battle Nearing

Go to Eola Park Saturday ... Go straight to Eola Park Saturday ... Do not pass Go ... Do not collect $200.

Instead, "collect" a groovy afternoon of "outta sight" sounds, freaky fun and an experience with which to enthrall your probation officer.

THE SCENE is Orlando Presents' first annual "Battle of the Sounds," a swinging college of blues, folk and psychedelic songs featuring seventeen teenage bands from throughout Central Florida.

All your friends will be there — Crazy Arnold Fulton Mzxlypwz, even Delirious Delbert, perpetrator of that startling new hit, "Around the World in Less than an Hour."

The bands will clash for cash, $175 in prizes, beginning at 2:30 p.m. with tunes such as "Fresh Garbage," "Magic Carpetride," "Up, Up, And Away," plus many more.

THE THREE top tuners will return to the bandshell May 16 at 8:30 p.m. for a rocking night of street dancing along a roped-off portion of Rosalind Avenue in front of the Robert Meyer Motor Inn.

Bands entered in the competition include "This Strange Tomorrow," "Glass," "Live Oak," "The Grape Suzette," "Love Project," "The Score," "Gutter Blues Band," "Dragonwyck," "J R Fin," "Shadows Out of Time," "The Rubber Band," "Power of Brass," "The System," "The Upstairs Establishment," "El Loco Loros," "Love County Maintenance," and "Odyssey."

"The Battle of the Sounds," is the latest in the Orlando Presents series of free outdoor entertainment sponsored by The Sentinel Star and cosponsored by Orlando Area Chamber of Commerce and city of Orlando.

'Live Oak'

The "Live Oak" and their electric sound will compete in sound battle. From left are Steve Goldman, Bob Kress and Chris Richards. Orlando Presents' is sponsored by The Sentinel Star and cosponsored by city of Orlando and Orlando Area Chamber of Commerce.